Being a member means...

...being part of the museum's history

Since its opening in 2000 and driven by a visionary and dedicated group of individuals, the Eden Valley Museum has become the focal point for the Eden Valley's heritage.

An enthusiastic team of members, volunteers and supporters continue to give their time, skills and financial support to ensure that the museum remains at the heart of the Eden Valley community.

Members learning the town trail

...meeting new people and learning more about the Eden Valley

You may simply wish to support us financially as a member, or you may want to be much more actively involved as a volunteer too.

Come and share your skills or learn from others.

...keeping up to date with what's going on at the museum

We promise to keep in touch to let you know what's going on via our newsletter. You'll also receive a copy of our regular magazine, invitations to all of our events, discounts on courses/talks/visits and free help with research. We also hold regular members evenings.

The Eden Valley Museum

The Eden Valley Museum tells the story of the Eden Valley, its people, buildings and natural environment.

Located in a medieval farmhouse in the heart of the historic centre of Edenbridge in South West Kent, the community-based museum is run almost entirely by volunteers.

Six galleries tell the story of a house of medieval origin and the story of the Eden Valley. The museum is more than static displays and mounts regular temporary exhibitions, undertakes outreach work, runs courses and events and provides an archive for researchers.

The museum is managed by the Eden Valley Museum Trust and is supported by local organisations and ensuring the heritage of the Eden Valley for future generations

The museum costs a considerable amount to run per day. A significant portion of your membership fees go directly towards the running of the museum.

Model of Church House

You can always help the museum by making a donation. All donations and shop sales go towards our running costs.

Under Gift Aid rules, if you are a UK taxpayer, you can increase the value of your subscription and any donation by 25% at no extra cost to you.

So please join us today.

We look forward to welcoming you as a Member of the Eden Valley Museum Trust.
